

An Overview

Salvita is a therapeutic, residential halfway house that serves the needs of women who are recovering from substance dependency and co-occurring mental health issues. Salvita provides case management and counseling for women in a daily structured environment. Our program focus is to assist women in learning the recovery skills needed to live a stable life. The length of stay may vary depending on individual factors. While the maximum length of stay may be up to 18 months, the average length of stay is between three (3) and four (4) months.

The philosophy of the Salvita program incorporates the steps of recovery originally developed by Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) and Narcotics Anonymous (NA). Attendance at AA/NA meetings is a major requirement of the recovery program. Residents are required to seek the continuing support of the AA/NA community by securing a sponsor to assist and support them in their recovery.
